Just remember in the winter
Far beneath the bitter snows
Lies the seed that with the sun's love
In the spring becomes the rose!

From "The Rose" sung by
Bette Midler

We would like to thank all who helped make One Rose For Life possible, especially the above listed churches for allowing us to hold the event in their churches on Saturday January 17 and Sunday, January 18, 2015.. A total of $2186.79 was given to MCRTL. Thank you for your generosity.

FORTY DAYS FOR LIFE

Please come and support life by praying at the abortion clinic on 1401 E. Stroop Ave. in Kettering. New campaign starts Feb. 18 and ends April 13, 2015.

2015
MARCH
LIFE

An estimated 200,000 people joined in a March for Life in Washington, D.C., bringing to the streets in front of Congress, their pleas for protection of the unborn. It was double the number of people that go to even the biggest football games or indoor concerts. WND Editor and CEO Joseph Farah has joined with Media Research Center and more than 20 pro-life groups in denouncing the establishment TV networks for failing to cover this year's March for life. According to MRC, CBS was the only major broadcast network that covered the march and the coverage was limited to 15 seconds during a discussion of moderate Republican opposition to the Pain-Capable Unborn Child Protection Act.

"THE DROP BOX"

"A couple of years ago on BreakPoint, I told you about a South Korean pastor who rescues abandoned babies. Well in March, 2015, you can see this amazing story in theaters across the country.

In Seoul, the capital of South Korea, hundreds of infants are abandoned on the streets every year. The problem became so severe that one Korean pastor decided to take unprecedented action. It's a story that's now the subject of an award-winning documentary by film maker Brian Ivie, which will be shown in theaters nationwide March 3-5. Please mark it on your calendar, because you and your church will want to see it.

Pastor Lee Jong-rak calls it his "Drop Box." The concept is simple. Instead of aborting or abandoning their infants, mothers who either can't keep or don't want their babies bring them to the wooden box affixed to Pastor Lee's house; they say good-bye, and they shut the door. The box, which is equipped with lights and heat, has a sign in Korean, 'Please don't throw away unwanted or disabled babies, or babies of single mothers. Please bring them here instead. When the box opens, a bell rings, and Pastor Lee, his wife, or a volunteer, comes and takes the child inside. Since Pastor Lee installed the Drop Box in 2009, as many as 18 babies a month have arrived at his home, which doubles as an orphanage. He and his wife have even adopted ten as their own—that's the maximum number local authorities will allow.

'The Drop Box' is the kind of story that changes lives. Forever. Just ask Brian Ivie. When accepting one of the awards for this film, he said, 'I became a Christian while making this movie. When I started to make it and I saw all these kids come through the drop box—it was like a flash from heaven, just like these kids with disabilities had crooked bodies, I have a crooked soul. And God loves me still.'
